Know Someone Strong Enough? Refer Today

When Andrea Fuller picked up her son from his afterschool program, Lisa Shelton noticed her badge from Children's. Lisa worked for the program, but had always wanted to work for a pediatric hospital. She asked Andrea about her job. Lisa listened with intrigue as Andrea talked about her role as a Physical Therapist. It didn't take long for Lisa to decide Children's was a place that she'd really like to be part of as an employee, so she asked Andrea to let her know if she learned of any employment opportunities. As fate would have it, Andrea knew of an Insurance Verifier opening at the Snellville location. She gave Lisa her contact information and helped her apply. Children's extended Lisa an offer, which she happily accepted. She refers to her first day as the moment when her life turned around and is extremely grateful to Andrea.

Strong Enough to Care Enough

"I love it here at Children's! There is not a better place to work. Everyone is always willing to help no matter what," Lisa says. "I am now going back to school to get my degree in exercise science. Children's makes you want to be the best person you can so you can be best representative of the organization—no matter your role or department. I feel like opportunities are endless at Children's."
