

Cardiac Telehealth Distance Learning Series

Pediatric chest pain

Join us, Monday, May 20, for lunch and the second in a series of presentations showcasing the benefits of telehealth while you receive continuing medical education (CME) credit.

Using our advanced technology and specialized medical video capabilities, Michael McConnell, M.D., Medical Director of Telemedicine at Children's Healthcare of Atlanta, will present an educational workshop on pediatric chest pain. Dr. McConnell, a pediatric cardiologist at Sibley Heart Center Cardiology, will discuss key indicators that warrant an additional patient cardiology work up.
